

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2016

He Loves Me, He Loves Me Not

Amrita.

Ruth P. Jhabvala

When this wealthy, spirited Indian girl decides to marry attractive Hari "for love," she almost upsets their families' match-making plans.

Another sky.

Naomi L. Babson

Beautiful Annis, sailing to her missionary fiancé in the South Pacific, attracts Captain Clark, while her plain cousin Quincy is too shy to fight for his attention.

Because of Madeline.

Mary S. Stolz

Dorothy describes the impact made on her brother by Madeline, a scrubwoman's daughter on scholarship at her exclusive school, and reveals her own feelings about Adam.

Behold your queen!

Gladys Malvern

Chosen loveliest in the land, young Esther won a king whose love she counted on to help her people in their time of need.

Bright gold.

Jessica Lyon, pseud.

Their young marriage is strained when Penny's economies are cancelled by Craig's generosities.

Read also: For a whole lifetime.

Candle in the night.

Elizabeth Howard

Tamsen finds which of her two suitors she really loves, amid the dangers of the 1812 siege of Detroit.

Crystal clear.

Elizabeth Cadell

There it was, printed in the London Times, the announcement of Paul Saxon's engagement to Helga de Brulais, a girl he had never met!

The curlew's cry.

Mildred Walker

When Pamela's childhood sweetheart unexpectedly marries her best friend, their small Montana town watches her reaction.

Cyrano de Bergerac; a play.

Edmond Rostand

Thwarted by his ugliness, Cyrano, a gifted poet and soldier, sacrifices his feelings for Roxane and secures her happiness with the man of her choice. 842 R839cyh

Désirée.

Annemarie Selinko

Her engagement to Napoleon broken, she was fated to marry his general and to become Queen of Sweden.

The far journey.

Loula G. Erdman

Against her mother's wishes, she married Edward and then followed him to Texas by covered wagon with their little son.

The enchanted summer.

Grace G. Kisinger

That was the summer Debby was dazzled by flattering dates with a handsome football hero.

The fire and the gold.

Phyllis A. Whitney

The terrible effects of the San Francisco earthquake open Melora's eyes to the selfishness of Tony and the loyalty of Quentin.

Going steady.

Anne Emery

Would it be college or marriage for Sally and Scotty? Read also: Married on Wednesday.

Green mansions.

William H. Hudson

Deep in the South American jungles, a young American scientist experiences a fantastic love for an exotic native girl.

Hue and cry.

Elizabeth Yates

When Danny O'Dare outrages a peaceful New Hampshire community by stealing a fine stallion, only deafmute Melody Austen can understand and help him.

Is this my love?

Gertrude E. B. Finney

Beatrice came to Jamestown to seek a husband but was totally unprepared for the rough wilderness ways of the colony and its men.

Julie.

Margaret M. Craig

At Briarton College, Julie almost didn't see the fineness of Tim, a crippled veteran, so eagerly was she looking at big-campus-hero Greg.

Lancelot, my brother.

Dorothy J. Roberts

In the days of spirited battle, profound loyalties and the search for the Holy Grail, Lancelot's love for Queen Guinevere could lead only to tragedy.

The little minister.

James M. Barrie

What happened in a quiet little Scottish village when the young minister fell in love with a gypsy girl.

Maggie.

Vivian Breck, pseud.

The marriage of a pampered San Francisco debutante and an English mining engineer is tested in the primitive wilderness of Mexico.

Mrs. Mike.

Benedict and Nancy M. Freedman

Boston-born Kathy Flannigan visits Canada for her health, to remain as wife of a handsome Northwest Mountie.

The nine brides and Granny Hite.

Neill C. Wilson

At Granny's quilting bee in Cat Track Hollow nine girls tell how they won their husbands.

Saul's daughter.

Gladys Malvern

The beautiful Biblical love story of Princess Michal and David, who was destined to win and break her heart.

Seventeenth summer.

Maureen Daly

First love for Angie and Jack during one wonderful summer.

Song of the voyageur.

Beverly Butler

Diane, newcomer to the Wisconsin wilderness, chooses between the half-Indian, Jean, son of her guardian, and the fascinating stranger from Philadelphia.

Stephanie.

Gladys Malvern

The pampered niece of Napoleon resents her arranged marriage to Charles, German prince, and their honeymoon begins when she humiliates him publicly.

Stub, a college romance.

Margueritte H. Bro

During his freshman year, Stub and his studies suffer from his intense infatuation for Conchita.

To tell your love.

Mary S. Stolz

Anne was terribly and miserably in love with Doug that summer, while the romance of her sister was a two-way thing, smooth and right.

Winter wheat.

Mildred Walker

Through their common love for the wheat fields of Montana, Ellen Webb is able to understand her Russian mother and New England father, and to go on after her first disappointment in love.

Short — Sweet — and Bittersweet

Open season.

James L. Summers

Moments that matter to teen-agers.

Stories of love; with poems and plays.

Alice I. Hazeltine and Elva S. Smith

Marvelous, miserable, magical moods.

Then it happened.

Wilma McFarland, ed.

Unforgettable experiences that brought intense pleasure or meaning to young people.

When boy dates girl.

Aurelia Stowe, comp.

Dating — from the boy's point of view.

Real Love in Real Life

Elizabeth and Philip.

Geoffrey Bocca
The romance between Philip, the sophisticated povertyridden Greek prince, and Elizabeth, a sheltered princess, was unpredicted.

92 E437bo

Farewell, my General.

Shirley Scifert

Flora Stuart never allowed loyalty to her father in the Union Army to interfere with her devotion to her dashing young husband, a Confederate general.

How do I love thee?

The story of the poets Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning, whose romance inspired some of the world's greatest poetry of love.

Read also: The silver answer.

Constance B. Burnett

I married a Korean.

"Would I do it again?" asks the American who married into a completely different culture.

951.9 K49i

Immortal wife.

Against the wishes of her father and advice of her friends, Jessie Benton married the explorer John Fremont and dedicated her life to him.

92 F872s

Invitation to tea.

With forty-six pieces of luggage, she arrived in India to marry George whom she had adored since childhood.

92 L271a

The Jacksons of Tennessee.

Withstanding public attacks and slander, Rachel and Andrew Jackson preserved their marriage with courage and devotion.

92 J124v
Read also: The president's lady.

Irving Stone

The lady of Arlington.

Robert E. Lee's wife left a sheltered life on the family plantation to make a home for her husband in army forts.

Let my name stand fair.

Shirley Seifert

About Caty Greene's pluck and charm which made history as she followed her husband, Nathaniel, through the harsh winter campaigns of the American Revolution.

Love is eternal.

Irving Stone

A sympathetic view of Lincoln's wife Mary, whose devotion resisted opposition from her wealthy family and attacks from Washington gossips.

My Antarctic honeymoon.

Jennie Darlington

Imagine honeymooning with your husband in the company of twenty-two other men at the South Pole.

92 D221a

My heart lies south.

Elizabeth B. de Treviño

This girl made a success of her marriage to a Mexican by cheerfully adapting herself to many formal customs, with understanding help from her new family.

92 T813a

Persian adventure.

Anne S. Mehdevi

The fresh impressions of an American girl married to a Persian who visited her husband's influential family in tradition-bound Persia.

92 M498a

Red dust of Kenya.

Alyse Simpson

Rejecting the eligible young men her family had selected, Alyce married a pioneering Englishman and left her quiet Swiss home for an immense, desolate farm in Africa.

967.6t S613r

The Robsart affair.

Jennette and Francis Letton

England's greatest queen, Elizabeth I, and the heart-break caused by her love for a married man.

The very young Mrs. Poe.

Cothburn O'Neal

The truth about Edgar Allan Poe's child-bride whose long illness moved Poe to write haunting visions of death.

TOO YOUNG FOR LOVE

Too young for love?
Ah, say not so!
Tell reddening rose-buds not to blow!
Wait not for spring to pass away,
Love's summer months begin with May!

Too young for love? Ah, say not so! Too young? Too young? Ah, no! no! no!

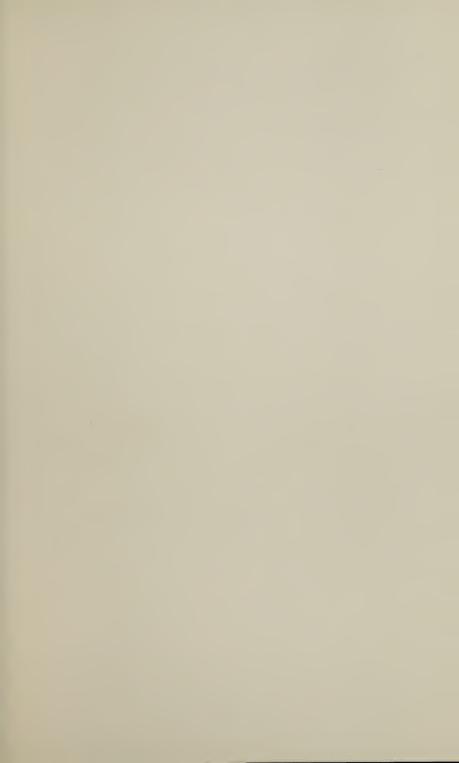

Too young for love?
Ah, say not so!
While daisies bloom and tulips glow!
June soon will come with lengthened day
To practise all love learned in May.

Too young for love?
Ah, say not so!
Too young? Too young?
Ah, no! no! no!

OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES

From Stories of love, by Alice I. Hazeltine and Elva S. Smith

CITY OF BOSTON
ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES DEPARTMENT
PRINTING SECTION

CITY OF BOSTON
ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES DEPARTMENT
PRINTING SECTION